2. The Pink Lake

Have you ever heard of a lake that turns pink? Lake Hillier, located in Western Australia, retains its peculiar pink hue all year round. The reason behind this phenomenon is still not completely understood by scientists, but it is believed to be due to a combination of algae and bacteria. Capture the magic of this bubblegum-colored lake and witness nature's artistry!

3. The World's Oldest Living Organism

In the heart of Utah's Fishlake National Forest, you can find "Pando" – a grove of quaking aspen trees that is believed to be the world's oldest living organism. What is mind-blowing about Pando is that it is not just one tree but a vast interconnected root system with over 40,000 trunks springing from a single genetic parent. This ochre-hued grove is estimated to be around 80,000 years old, making it truly awe-inspiring!

4. Tsingy de Bemaraha National Park

Journey to Madagascar and explore the mesmerizing Tsingy de Bemaraha National Park, a UNESCO World Heritage Site. This park boasts a unique landscape of jagged limestone formations, resembling a forest of stone needles. With sharp edges and deep crevices, navigating this otherworldly terrain requires a daring spirit. Prepare to be astounded by this natural wonder!

5. The Tree of Life

In the blistering desert of Bahrain, an unexpected sight awaits – the Tree of Life. Standing alone in the barren landscape, this mesquite tree boggles the mind as it thrives without any apparent water source for hundreds of years. Its exact age remains a mystery, but the tree's resilience and solitude evoke a sense of wonder and mystery.

These are just a few of the 1123 hard to believe facts that will ignite your curiosity and amaze you. Prepare to have your mind blown by the wonders of our extraordinary world!

The book will be your strongest ally in combatting social awkwardness and will arm you with plenty of icebreaking pieces of trivia, suitable for any occasion.

Following the success of my site RaiseYourBrain and numerous requests from readers, I decided to compile some of the most interesting facts in a book. That's why I decided to collect the best gems of breath-taking trivia and to present you a great compilation of verified facts, suitable for a broad audience. This is the result of years of sifting through history and reference books on a myriad of subjects as well as searching the Internet and paying attention to the news.

This book is intended to be fun for anyone older than 14 - even the most 'spicy' entries, neatly separated in the chapter "Facts about human and animal sexuality", remain factual and abstain from profanity. To my greatest delight, an avid reader of my site explained that she has been preparing daily fact sheets for her son's lunch box. She prints out three facts every day to create some lunchtime fun for her son, thus enticing him to read more and provoking his intellectual curiosity. I wish my parents had done something like that for me!

I confess that most trivia books are insufferably boring. This book is different, packed with interesting, educational and fun ingredients; it seeks to entertain as well as challenge. It will provide you with never-ending intellectual ammunition for a lifetime of dinner parties. You will amaze your friends and family by recounting to them that the greatest Chinese pirate of all times was a woman, or that herrings use flatulence to communicate!
