Step 1: Understanding Hair Color Types

Before diving into the ocean of hair colors, it's important to understand the different types available. From permanent hair color to semi-permanent and temporary options, each type serves a different purpose.

TO HAIR COLOR PRODUCT TYPES

SEMI PERMANENT	DEMI PERMANENT	PERMANENT	BLEACH/LIGHTENERS

DURATION:
6-10 shampoos	about 28 shampoos	until hair is cut/grows out	permanent
BEST FOR:
darkening hair, changing tone	darkening hair, covering grays	lightening or darkening hair, covering grays	lightening & highlighting
NOT SUITED FOR:
lightening hair	lightening hair	temporary or low maintenance color	anything else

Permanent hair color is ideal for those looking to make a lasting change to their hair. It provides full coverage and can completely transform your natural hair color. However, it's important to choose a shade that complements your complexion.

Semi-permanent hair color, on the other hand, is less intense and fades over time. It's perfect for experimenting with new shades or adding a subtle twist to your current look. Although it doesn't offer long-lasting results, it's a great option for those who like to change their hair color frequently.

Temporary hair color provides the most temporary results. It's mostly used for special occasions or a little fun. With options like hair chinks or temporary sprays, you can embrace vibrant colors without the long-term commitment.

Step 2: Decoding Hair Color Shades

Now that you understand the different types of hair color, let's delve into the overwhelming world of shades. When it comes to hair color, there are hundreds of shades to choose from. From blondes to brunettes, redheads to black-haired beauties – the options are endless.

Champagne

One of the best ways to choose a suitable shade is to consider your skin tone. Warm skin tones tend to pair well with warmer hair colors like golden blondes, caramel browns, and fiery reds. Cooler skin tones, on the other hand, are complemented by ash blondes, cool browns, and burgundy shades.

It's important to note that each brand may have a slightly different interpretation of shades. So, when considering a specific shade, always consult the provided color chart or swatches to ensure you get the desired result.

Step 3: Navigating the Hair Color Terminology

When reading hair color labels, you might come across some confusing terminology. Understanding these terms will help you make an informed decision and avoid any unexpected results.

Some common hair color terms include:

- Tone: Refers to the underlying color of the shade. Ashy or cool tones have blue or green undertones, while warm tones have red or gold undertones.
- Level: Indicates the lightness or darkness of the shade. The scale typically ranges from 1 (black) to 10 (lightest blonde).
- Developer: A liquid or cream used to activate the hair color and open the hair cuticles. It comes in different strengths (10, 20, 30, or 40 volume) depending on the desired intensity.
- Hair dye: The coloring component of the hair color product.

By having a basic understanding of these terms, you'll be better equipped to choose the right product and achieve your desired outcome.

Step 4: Tips for a Successful Coloring Experience

Now that you're equipped with knowledge about hair color types, shades, and terminology, it's time to ensure a successful coloring experience. Here are a few tips to keep in mind:
