Contains more than 250 color photographs and is more than 260 pages. This book is ENTIRLY pictorial. The Arizona Renaissance Festival is currently in its 25th year and generally runs from about mid-February to early April, days when the rest of the Nation can be up to its knees in snow and ice sickles forming on the ends of noses. While photographing there on the 17th of February 2013 the temperature was a modest 75 degrees Fahrenheit and blue skies horizon to horizon. For those interested in such things; all photographs were taken with a Nikon N80 35mm film camera using Fuji Superia 35mm iso 200 film, a Nikon S3300, and Canon A2300

The author began photography and photo-journalism in early 1963 when he accepted an offer from his local newspaper to write about and photograph sports events at the Arizona high school where he was a junior.

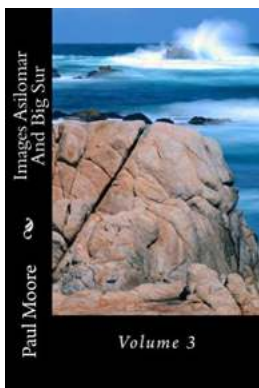

After a stint in the service, he had an opportunity to study photography and printing techniques with Bernard Hoffman, a true gentleman and scholar, and one of the earliest staff photographers for Life Magazine.

Since that time he has had thousands of photographs and hundreds of articles published by more than 60 national and international periodicals. He was also a contributing editor for one of them for more than ten years. Topics ran the gamut from professional sports, medicine, archeology, and photography to science. After twenty years away from Arizona he returned in 1985 and it has been the base from which all his photographic excursions are launched. Along with many others he has embraced digital photography but can still be seen, from time to time, peering through the ground glass of a large format camera or hoisting a large medium format 6x7. The photographer currently has fine art photography on exhibit at The Center for Fine Arts in Globe, Arizona.
