

Delhi Anti Hindu Riots 2020 - The Macabre Dance Of Violence Since December 2019

Delhi, the capital city of India, witnessed a series of violent riots starting from December 2019. These riots, primarily aimed at the Hindu community, had a profound impact on the social fabric of the city. The macabre dance of violence that unfolded over the following months left the entire nation in shock and disbelief.

The seeds of these riots were sown in December 2019 when the controversial Citizenship Amendment Act (CAA) was introduced by the Indian government. The Act aimed to provide fast-track citizenship to persecuted religious minorities from neighboring countries. However, it became a lightning rod for protests and opposition from various groups who deemed it discriminatory against Muslims.

The situation escalated in February 2020 when clashes broke out between supporters and opponents of the CAA in several areas of Delhi. What started as peaceful protests quickly spiraled into a wave of violence and destruction. Mobs armed with weapons and fueled by hatred targeted Hindu neighborhoods, resulting in widespread looting, arson, and loss of life.

The violence perpetrated against Hindus during these riots was shocking in its intensity and scale. Innocent men, women, and children were subjected to brutal assaults, with many losing their lives or sustaining life-altering injuries. The gruesome scenes that played out on the streets of Delhi were reminiscent of a war zone, as communities were torn apart and animosity between religious groups reached new heights.

One of the most disturbing aspects of these riots was the macabre dance of violence orchestrated by extremist elements. Reports suggested that certain radical organizations had pre-planned the attacks, with the intention of targeting Hindu households and businesses. The riots were carefully orchestrated, allowing the perpetrators to indulge in their vile acts unhindered.

Amidst the chaos and mayhem, stories of hope and human solidarity emerged. Many residents of Delhi, regardless of their religious affiliations, came together to provide shelter, food, and support to those affected by the violence. These acts of kindness and compassion served as a glimmer of light amidst the darkness that shrouded the city.

The aftermath of the riots left Delhi scarred both physically and emotionally. Rebuilding shattered lives and fractured communities became a monumental task. The wounds inflicted by the violence would take years, if not decades, to heal completely.

As the dust settled and the nation tried to make sense of the events that transpired, questions arose about the failure of law enforcement agencies in preventing and controlling the riots. Critics argued that laxity on the part of the government allowed the situation to escalate, leaving innocent citizens vulnerable to violence. The accountability of those responsible for maintaining law and order in the city came under scrutiny, leading to demands for a thorough investigation.

The media played a crucial role in reporting the events as they unfolded, shedding light on the horrifying realities faced by the victims and their families. Journalists risked their lives to capture the truth, ensuring that the nation remained informed about the magnitude of the tragedy. Their relentless pursuit of the truth remains a testament to the power of the press in holding those in power accountable.

It is essential for a society to reflect on the events that shook its foundation and learn from them. It is only through introspection and understanding that we can build a future devoid of violence and hatred. The Delhi Anti Hindu Riots of 2020 stand as a reminder of the urgency to address deep-seated divides and promote harmony in our society.

As the people of Delhi strive to recover from the trauma inflicted upon their city, it is imperative for the government and the citizens to come together and ensure justice for the victims. The road to healing may be long and arduous, but with unity and determination, Delhi can rise above the darkness and reclaim its spirit.

The CAA aimed to expedite citizenship to the religiously persecuted minorities of the neighbouring Islamic nations that were carved out of India and failed to treat its citizens equally. However, as is perhaps not very politically correct to point out, Islam as a religion calls Muslims to be a part of Ummah, which is to say, that all Muslims belong to the same theological ‘country’ regardless of political borders.

That coupled with the intrinsic need of the Left to forever consider the Muslims as the victims, even under imaginary circumstances led to massive riots and violence in India. The perceived wrong here was that CAA left Muslims out, however, the truth was the CAA had nothing to do with Indians at all, let alone Indian Muslims.

Another excuse for the rampant violence was that the proposed NRC would snatch away the citizenship of Muslims. That too, was a shameless canard. The NRC, when implemented and drafted, would be aimed to identify and deport Illegal Immigrants, and not Indian Citizens. No country in the world wantonly accepts indiscriminate influx of illegals, but the Left and Islamist nexus burnt the country because that is exactly what it expected of India.

While many people wish to look at the Delhi Riots 2020 in isolation, the events that started right from the 1st December 2019 proves otherwise. It proves that the violence was a concerted effort to push Anarchy and Chaos in India. It proves that the Delhi Riots was no anti-Muslim pogrom, it was indeed, a well-oiled plan to tame 'kafirs'.
