This powerful quote by Martin Luther King Jr. encapsulates the significance of justice and its direct impact on society. It emphasizes that any form of injustice should be of concern to everyone, as it undermines the very foundations of justice.

2. "The time is always right to do what is right." - Martin Luther King Jr.

Martin Luther King Jr. consistently fought for equality and justice, believing that the right time to take action is always in the present. This quote inspires individuals to never hesitate to stand up against racism, regardless of external circumstances. It reminds us that the pursuit of justice should not be postponed.

3. "Our lives begin to end the day we become silent about things that matter." - Angela Davis

Angela Davis, a prominent civil rights activist, encourages individuals to speak up against racism and injustice. Remaining silent only perpetuates the problem, while taking a stance begins the journey to create meaningful change. This quote reminds us that our voice is a powerful tool in the fight for freedom, justice, and equality.

4. "Darkness cannot drive out darkness; only light can do that. Hate cannot drive out hate; only love can do that." - Martin Luther King Jr.

Fighting hate with hate only leads to more hate and animosity. Martin Luther King Jr. beautifully expresses that true change and transformation can only come from love and understanding. This quote serves as a reminder that love and compassion have the power to conquer racism and bridge the gaps between people.

5. "You must be the change you wish to see in the world." - Mahatma Gandhi

Mahatma Gandhi, the leader of India's nonviolent independence movement, emphasizes personal responsibility in creating change. This quote inspires individuals to embody the values they wish to see in society. By taking action and promoting equality in our own lives, we can influence and inspire others to join in the fight against racism.

6. "No one is born hating another person because of the color of their skin, or their background, or their religion. People must learn to hate, and if they can learn to hate, they can be taught to love, for love comes more naturally to the human heart than its opposite." - Nelson Mandela

Nelson Mandela, a symbol of resilience and forgiveness, believed that hatred is learned and can be unlearned. This quote highlights the inherent capacity for love and acceptance within humanity. It encourages individuals to challenge discriminatory beliefs and work towards building a more inclusive society.

7. "The only way to deal with this life is to find something that is good and pursue it with everything you have." - Maya Angelou

In the face of racism, finding something positive to hold onto and pursuing it wholeheartedly can be a source of inspiration and strength. Maya Angelou's quote encourages individuals to seek out goodness in the world and continually work towards personal and social growth with unwavering determination.

8. "Injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere." - Nelson Mandela

Nelson Mandela's quote echoes Martin Luther King Jr.'s words, reminding us that injustice affects us all. When one person faces discrimination, it diminishes the principles of justice for everyone. This serves as a call to action, urging individuals to unite against racism and work towards building a fair and equal society.

9. "When we deny the story, it defines us. When we own the story, we can write a brave new ending." - Brené Brown

Brené Brown, a research professor and author, emphasizes the importance of confronting uncomfortable truths and acknowledging the realities of racism. By owning the story, we can actively participate in rewriting the narrative and create a future where racism is eradicated. This quote encourages individuals to embrace vulnerability and actively work towards change.

10. "Change will not come if we wait for some other person or some other time. We are the ones we've been waiting for. We are the change that we seek." - Barack Obama

Former President Barack Obama's quote reminds us that change begins with ourselves. Waiting for someone else to lead the way or for the right moment delays progress. We have the power to be the change we wish to see. This powerful message inspires individuals to take initiative and actively contribute to dismantling racism in all its forms.

In , these inspirational quotes against racism serve as constant reminders of the values we should uphold: freedom, justice, and equality. They empower individuals to take a stand, inspire change, and actively contribute to creating a world free from racism and discrimination. NEW YORK is the most densely populated major city in the United States and one of the most densely populated cities in the world. It is a HUGE MELTING POT of different nationalities, cultures, and traditions, with people from all over the world, some born in America, some, many, immigrants, who still come to the city chasing a dream, a vision, a job, a new chance.

This city has been described as the cultural, financial, and media capital of the world, influencing commerce, entertainment, research, technology, education, politics, tourism, art, fashion, architecture, sports, international diplomacy, and WAYS OF THINKING.

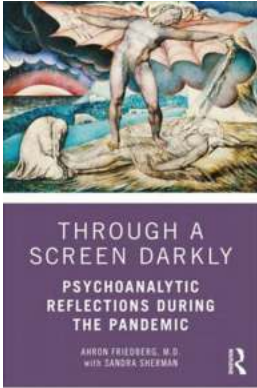

New York is a special place when the SNOW starts falling on the city, making everything white, making life slower and sounds less perceptible and lighter, creating a simple and pure EQUALITY of WHITE AND BLACK.

NEW YORK BLACK AND WHITE (www.newyorkblackandwhite.org) wants to create a wonderful metaphor of the snow as equality against any form of racism, whether it is toward African-Americans, blacks, Jews, immigrants, foreigners, gays, lesbians, transgenders, ideas, and anything that is different from you. The book contains inspirational quotes from artists, visionaries, politicians, writers, activists from the past to the present: Muhammed Ali, Maya Angelou, Francis Bacon, Coco Chanel, Lord Byron, Paulo Coelho, E.E. Cummings, Robert De Niro, Spike Lee, Mahatma Gandhi, Robert F. Kennedy, John F. Kennedy, Toni Morrison, Barack and Michelle Obama, Nina Simone, Malcom X, Anne Frank... NEW YORK is one of the most beloved cities, full of contrasts, one of the most beautiful examples of different cultures and peoples all living together and, therefore, a great VOICE AS A CITY, able to reach out to every corner of the world. In the end, the New York motto, over every drama, catastrophe, terrorist act, pandemic, is: UNITED WE STAND.
