"This is a refreshingly honest and straightforward account of the author's journey into the great mystery of Being. He explores his experience - both divine and disorienting - of encountering life behind the veil of ego. This book is an innocent and inspiring story about coming home."

- G. Richards

This journal chronicles a spiritual awakening and the unfoldment that followed. The awakening experience is a wondrous and profound shift of consciousness into nonduality. What is revealed is our true self or true nature. Very little is written about the days and weeks immediately following an awakening. It can be at once blissful but disorienting and confusing. One's identity leaps from egoic self to non-dual universal awareness. The author explores in detail his own realizations and challenges as the year progresses.
