ancient cities like Rome, Paris, and Athens, soaking in the richness of centuries-old architecture and mouth-watering cuisines.

In 2013, America's biggest motorcycle maker celebrated its 110th anniversary with a series of rallies around the globe. With the generous assistance of Harley-Davidson, automotive journalist and author John Scott Lewinski chased the global party from Auckland to Berlin, Cape Town to Daytona, and Rome back home to Milwaukee. Along the way, he witnessed more of the massive Harley rallies, logged more seat time on more bikes and compiled more air miles than any other attendee.

After covering the global birthday party for multiple news outlets as a “boots on the ground” correspondent, Lewinski compiled his reports in this book alongside the vibrant photography he captured at each venue. Offering a look back at the biggest party in Harley-Davidson history and a once in a lifetime experience for lovers of Milwaukee iron, “Motorcycle 360: Around the World on Two Wheels” invites you to experience the journey and relive the adventure as it happened.
