Brooklyn: A Haven for Hipster Dogs

Brooklyn, known for its trendy cafes and artistic vibe, has emerged as a hub for dog lovers and their furry friends. Walking through the streets of Williamsburg or DUMBO, you can't help but notice the plethora of dog-friendly establishments. From cafes offering doggie treats to shops selling handmade dog accessories, Brooklyn truly embraces its four-legged inhabitants. The famous Prospect Park, with its sprawling green fields, is a popular destination for dog lovers looking to enjoy a day out with their pets.

The Upper East Side: Posh Pups and Pampering

The Upper East Side of Manhattan exudes a sense of luxury and sophistication like no other neighborhood in New York City. This reputation extends to our canine companions as well. Here, you'll find an array of high-end pet boutiques offering designer labels, gourmet doggy bakeries, and luxurious dog spas. The Upper East Side truly caters to the city's posh pups, with residents doting on their furry friends and ensuring they receive the finest care and pampering.

Astoria: Welcoming the Canine Diversity

Astoria, a vibrant neighborhood in Queens, has become a hotspot for a diverse community of dog owners. Here, dogs of different breeds, sizes, and personalities blend together to create a harmonious environment. Astoria offers several small, quaint parks where residents can gather, chat, and let their dogs play. With its friendly and welcoming atmosphere, this neighborhood truly embraces the spirit of inclusivity and diversity, making it a unique haven for dog owners.

The Unbreakable Bond Between New Yorkers and Their Dogs

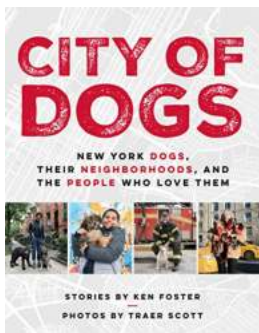

Beyond neighborhood distinctions and dog-friendly environments, one thing remains constant throughout New York City - the unbreakable bond between New Yorkers and their dogs. In a city that never sleeps, where people are constantly on the move, dogs provide companionship, love, and a sense of comfort. New Yorkers cherish the time they spend with their four-legged friends, creating lasting memories amidst the chaos of city life.

From the expansive landscapes of Central Park to the trendy cafes of Brooklyn and the elegant streets of the Upper East Side, New York City offers a wide array of neighborhoods that celebrate the unique bond between dogs and their owners. Whether you're a resident or a visitor, it's hard not to be enchanted by the sight of New York dogs frolicking, exploring, and bringing joy to their owners and passersby. So, next time you find yourself in the Big Apple, make sure to take a stroll through one of these dog-friendly neighborhoods and immerse yourself in the wonderful world of New York dogs.

A beautiful, heartfelt, funny, and inspiring collection of photos and stories that maps the relationship between canine New Yorkers and their human counterparts.

New York is a city of five boroughs, more than 250 distinct neighborhoods, 8.5 million people, and more than 600,000 dogs, who are as much a part of the social fabric as the people who follow them on the other end of the leash. City of Dogs maps this relationship with incredible four-color photos highlighting the scene.

From the Bronx to Brooklyn and along the streets of Harlem and Manhattan, Ken Foster and Traer Scott explore the unique relationships between dogs and their human counterparts. We meet Alex Nuckel, living on disability and finding joy and purpose in caring for his two pit bulls, Lucy and Rocky. And Majora Carter, a community activist who has received a MacArthur grant, living and working with two stray shepherds she rescued in her own neighborhood. City of Dogs also takes us to a Midtown Manhattan law office, where staff are encouraged to bring their adopted dogs to work, and to the JFK airport, where we meet dogs who help screen at security. And then on to Brooklyn, where we meet award-winning author Jacqueline Woodson and her dogs, Toffee and Shadow. These are just a few of the amazing animals and their people featured in this perfect gift book for any dog lover.
