Dear Ms. Lesser,

My previous work experience and leadership roles make me an ideal candidate for a summer internship with Florida Studios. Your company has an excellent reputation for customer satisfaction, and I know that the combination of my experience, education, and motivation to excel will make me an asset to your marketing department.

My experience in sales and customer service, combined with my courses in psychology, has convinced me that hospitality marketing is a career option that would suit me well. In my position with Drake Productions last year, I was recognized as the top sales associate in their summer program. I am sure that I can put this same skill to use for you, and yet continue to improve upon it as I learn from some of the top marketing executives in the business.

I look forward to contacting you within a week to talk about the possibility of an interview. Should you have any questions before that time, you may reach me via phone (386-555-2922) or via email (cra8z@virginia.edu).

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Casey Amore

Resume Tips

1. Customize Your Resume for Each Job Application

Your resume should be tailored to the specific job you are applying for. Highlight relevant skills, experiences, and achievements that align with the job requirements.

The Official CNA Resume and Cover Letters Manual: Resumes, Cover Letters, Tips, Secrets, and More by John Rodgers (Kindle Edition)

★★★★☆ 4.5 out of 5

Language : English

2. Use Action Verbs and Quantifiable Achievements

Start bullet points with action verbs to showcase your accomplishments. Use quantifiable data to demonstrate your impact, such as "increased sales by 20%" or "led a team of 10 members."

3. Keep It Concise and Well-Formatted

Avoid lengthy paragraphs and irrelevant information. Use bullet points and headings to make it easy for recruiters to scan your resume. Maintain a clean and professional layout.

Cover Letter Tips

1. Address the Hiring Manager Personally

Avoid using generic salutations like "To Whom It May Concern." Take the time to research and address the hiring manager by name. It shows that you have done your homework.

2. Highlight Your Relevant Skills and Experiences

Your cover letter should complement your resume by expanding on specific skills and experiences that make you a strong fit for the job. Use examples to back up your claims.

3. Keep It Concise and Error-Free

Aim for a one-page cover letter that is clear, concise, and free from grammatical errors. Proofread multiple times and consider seeking feedback from trusted friends or mentors.

Secrets to Stand Out

1. Research the Company

Show your enthusiasm and knowledge of the company by incorporating relevant information into your application. This demonstrates that you genuinely want to work for the organization.

2. Network and Leverage Connections

Tap into your professional network to uncover potential job opportunities. Personal recommendations or referrals from trusted individuals can significantly increase your chances of getting an interview.

3. Showcase Transferable Skills

Highlight transferable skills that are applicable across different industries. Emphasize your ability to adapt and learn quickly, as employers often value versatility and a growth mindset.

Remember, your resume and cover letter are marketing tools that represent you to potential employers. Take the time to craft them carefully and reflect your unique qualifications and experiences. With these tips and secrets in mind, you will be well-equipped to impress hiring managers and land your dream job!
