Reviving the Glory of Steam Locomotives

SD&AE values its rich history and heritage, preserving it through the restoration and operation of vintage steam locomotives. These marvels of engineering once ruled the railways and are now meticulously maintained to recreate the bygone era of train travel.

This volume presents a reference of the motive power and equipment of the San Diego and Arizona Eastern Railway 1906-1977. The 144 miles of the SD&AE operated from the cool tidewaters of San Diego Bay to a Southern Pacific connection on the scorching sands at Yuma Arizona. The trains ran through stark, desolate desert scenery and over the spectacular rocky Laguna Mountains. This gave the SD&AE a unique majesty and beauty that rivaled the most scenic lines in North America. The focus of this volume is an in depth review of the steam locomotives, motor cars, and rolling stock of this little known railroad. A complete pictorial history of each of the engines is presented. And it includes the changes and modifications to each each locomotive. as well as an overview of leased Southern Pacific steam and diesel power. (The SD&AE was a wholly owned subsidiary of the Southern Pacific from 1933-1976). It also has a brief overview history of the railroad and predecessor companies. The 'connecting' railroads (US Gypsum, Western Salt and NAS North Island) are also reviewed. Operation of the railroad over the years of 1919-1977 is documented.
