This is a Christian motivational book that I wrote to combine my experience as a Christian with unique poetic language to explain the different aspects of words in order to inspire people to think freely and never surrender what they believe in to anyone. I wanted to bring a positive change to the world through this book and it was mainly an experiment of mine until it became real and finished. My goal is that one person reads this book and says they can relate to that moment, so they know they are not alone in this world and that God is always with them. After all we all need someone or something to encourage us to bring our best face forward and become the thing that God has planned for us. Amen.
