Others may find themselves drawn to the idea of motherhood later in life, as they witness the incredible bond formed between a mother and child.

Whatever the origin, the longing to be a mom is a powerful force that transcends cultures, backgrounds, and personal circumstances. It represents the inherent desire to love, nurture, and shape a new life. It is a journey filled with both excitement and trepidation, as women navigate the unknown and prepare for the transformative role of motherhood.

A woman's experience as a mother is influenced by the mothering she received as a child. If neglect was a part of that upbringing, the woman who holds a newborn and faces the responsibility of parenting needs a healthy vision of motherhood. T. Suzanne Eller compassionately discusses how a woman can turn from a painful past and embrace a godly example of motherhood. She shares how shattered legacies can be put back together; the path to restoring the broken image of motherhood; and ways to let go and embrace a new story. This is a celebration of God's healing power and how all women can become the mom they want to be.
